THOMAS FRANKEN

Thomas Franken is an innovative and imaginative artist and designer. His large portfolio encompasses a variety of media including paintings, silk screens, collages, graphic arts, and designs in wood.

Oil paintings are the primary focus of his work. His strong and vivid use of color is rendered in an abstract, impressionistic style. The subject matter is inspired from landscapes, travels and his imagination. "I hope people will make strong personal connections to my art and derive pleasure from it." The quality and richness of color in the silk screening process is what first drew him to the medium. His woodworking includes beautiful decorative and creative one of a kind pieces including lamps, wall hangings, wine racks and furniture.

His art has been exhibited in a number of galleries and acquired by collectors. Memberships include the Kent Art Association and the Washington Art Association. He maintains a studio in South Kent, CT.

KAREN BAHRENBURG

Karen earned a Bachelor of Science Degree from Fairleigh Dickenson University and worked as a technical writer for McGraw Hill Publishing Company before marrying and moving to upstate New York. Drawing and painting were early passions, which were gradually revisited, and pursued.

She found formal training at the Woodstock School of Art and the Dutchess County Art Association where she studied figure drawing, oil painting and pastel. She discovered her favorite medium, by taking workshops from some of the most acclaimed pastelists in the world. Because of her love and reverence for nature, Karen most enjoys painting rural landscapes near her home, and where her travels take her from the American Southwest, to Florida and Italy.
